BUNDLE

WHY TAKE THE 60 PDU PROJECT MANAGEMENT COURSE BUNDLE?

Nearly all of the Project Management Institute (PMI) certifications require practitioners to earn PDUs to maintain them. For the PMP, PgMP, PfMP and the PBA certifications, the requirement is 60 PDUs in a 3-year period, which can be a lot to accomplish while you're managing active projects. This bundle earns you the required 60 PDUs with a collection of courses covering multiple topics ranging from emotional intelligence for project managers to challenges for agile teams. We've also included a simulation, where you'll need to make a series of decisions, each of which will impact your project outcome in different ways.

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

Completing the project management course bundle prepares you to:

- Discuss the role of emotional intelligence for managers and project managers
- Recognize the importance of emotional intelligence in successful project management
- Discuss project managers and the three components of the Ethical Triangle: Individual Ethics, Leadership Ethics, and Governance and Control
- Recognize the key ethical issues in project management
- Understand how specific tools and techniques can be used to monitor and control quality, and use these tools to create plans and solutions to quality problems
- Leverage quantitative and qualitative data to measure and control work
- Describe the stages of the Agile development cycle and identify the factors that promote project success
- Apply best practices from organizations that have successfully incorporated Agile methodologies into their business activities
- List the three sources of power for project management team leader
- Identify the challenges of virtual teams and how they relate to the project management team leader's roles
